

Book Announcement

A World Beyond Global Disorder: The Courage to Hope

Cambridge Scholars Publishing is pleased to announce the publication of A World Beyond Global Disorder: The Courage to Hope, edited by Fred Dallmayr and Edward Demenchonok.

A world which, like ours, has been ravaged by some sixty wars in recent decades, can rightly be described as the scene of global disorder. Even today, the same world is traumatized by hot and cold wars, proxy wars, and repeated outbursts of blood-filled mayhem, not to mention the threat of a nuclear holocaust unleashed by big power rivalries. These are not mere statistics, but wounds in the body of humanity, calling for healing and reconciliation. In biblical terms, human beings are not meant to be the owners or the destroyers of the world, but rather its custodians or caretakers.

This collection is a summons to responsible care-taking, and it approaches the subject from an intercultural perspective in a variety of fields, including religion and politics. The topics covered range from accounts of major global calamities today to explorations of possible political, economic and societal reforms, and to the invocation of basic religious and philosophical resources needed for the recovery of a world beyond global disorder.

To read a full summary of the book and to read a 30-page sample extract, which includes the table of contents, please visit the following link:

<http://www.cambridgescholars.com/a-world-beyond-global-disorder-2>

Hardback, pp275 | £52.99 / $90.95
ISBN 978-1-4438-9882-9

---

"I am glad to learn about the book. The topic could hardly be more timely and important."

—Noam Chomsky, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

"This is an outstanding collection of original essays by distinguished scholars from the East, Middle East, and West. While it moves increasingly towards its theme of hope despite the global disorder of the present, it is anything but saccharine in its approach: It views the disorder, much of it born of serious past malfasances by state actors, as very real, and it insists, from its title onwards, that transformative hope requires considerable courage under the circumstances."

—William L. McBride, Immediate Past President, International Federation of Philosophical Societies (FISP)

---

Cambridge Scholars is currently offering a generous discount on this book as part of the April 'New Releases' promotion, and it can be bought direct from the publishers for £24.99 reduced from the list price of £52.99.

To take advantage of this offer, please visit <http://www.cambridgescholars.com/a-world-beyond-global-disorder-2> or contact Cambridge Scholars Publishing at orders@cambridgescholars.com. This offer will expire on 30th April, 2017.

About the Editors

Fred Dallmayr is Packey J. Dee Professor Emeritus in the fields of philosophy and political science at the University of Notre Dame, USA. His main research interests have been in modern and contemporary philosophy, comparative and cross-cultural studies, and religion and politics. His recent books include Being in the World: Dialogue and Cosmopolis, Beyond Apocalypse: Recovering Humanity's Wholeness, and Freedom and Solidarity: Toward New Beginnings.

Edward Demenchonok is Professor of Foreign Languages and Philosophy at Fort Valley State University, USA. His numerous books and articles are in the fields of the philosophy of culture, social philosophy and ethics. He is the editor of Between Global Violence and Ethics of Peace: Philosophical Perspectives; Philosophy after Hiroshima; and Intercultural Dialogue: In Search of Harmony in Diversity.

